Over the last five decades Air Partner has built its reputation on a long history of experience, financial stability, long-term customizable travel solutions and global logistical capabilities. Air Partner will be highlighting its reputation and expertise in group charter at IBTM Americas and FIEXPON Latin America. IBTM Americas brings together the top events' industry leaders to connect, inspire, and network in Mexico City from May 29-30, 2019. Supplying the industry with the most comprehensive choice of aircraft available, Air Partner's team can fit any requirement needed with its vast selection of charter jets. They are also available to understand and cater to precise timing, logistical, equipment, food and dining requests that are all part of the performance driven world of business and sporting events.

“We are delighted to participate in two significant events for the Latin American travel market this year. We look forward to working with the IBTM and FIEXPO teams on what are sure to be highly successful events to showcase Air Partner’s involvement in and dedication to the growth of the Latin American charter segment,” said David McCown, president of Air Partner U.S. “As charter demand has grown, Air Partner has developed an even stronger presence in the region. With US operations headquartered out of Fort Lauderdale, Air Partner has provided premier private charters for incentive trips, corporate travel and business-leisure travel to Mexico City, Peru, Colombia, and Costa Rica among other major Latin American cities.”

Air Partner’s Group Charter Division specializes in providing scheduled flights to groups of all sizes.

Last year, Air Partner arranged hundreds of group flights for clients from a variety of industries including MICE, corporations, sports, automotive, and financial services – an increase of more than 25% year-over-year for MICE travel. This coupled with more than 20 years’ experience in the U.S., drives many clients to return to Air Partner year-over-year for their travel solutions. From (regional and international) charters for private banks and travel agencies to a South American soccer team, Air Partner has delivered valuable solutions for group flights according to the specific needs of the client. Travel managers can also take advantage of Air Partner’s Corporate Air Shuttle Program to schedule round trips on smaller and larger aircrafts that accommodate each groups’ personal and business schedule.

In addition, Air Partner’s Group Charter division can fly large numbers of passengers directly to destinations that might otherwise be unavailable on scheduled service. Clients may choose to combine scheduled service with air charter by having passengers travel to one central point where they can board the same chartered aircraft. Air Partner coordinates each leg of the journey to make sure everyone arrives in perfect synchronicity; the charter team can also organize hotel accommodations, personalized catering and branding to ensure all aspects of the corporate event are run smoothly, efficiently and perfect tailored. Travelers also enjoy Air Partner’s ability to provide a unique, personalized experience at the airport and in-flight – enabling travel time to become part of the overall brand experience.

Air Partner’s Group Charter division is exhibiting at IBTM (Booth 819) and FIEXPO (Stand C09) and will be available to meet with hosted buyers interested in arranging group travel for meeting and incentive events.
