AIR PARTNER PROVIDES IDEAL WAY TO VISIT WINTER'S HOTTEST SPOTS

Leading private aviation company shares recommendations for top winter ski destinations and warm weather escapes

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. – January 27, 2017 – Air Partner, a global leader in private aviation, today shared its guide to some of the best winter travel hot spots. Perfect for a wide range of travelers and vacation preferences, Air Partner's list includes warm weather hot spots and legendary ski destinations. With access to a 24/7 global support team, dedicated account managers, exceptional quality and high-end catering, those flying with Air Partner this winter will enjoy a more convenient way to take an extended vacation or weekend escape.

"Whether it's to get prime access to the slopes or to escape the frigid temperatures impacting much of the United States right now, Air Partner has availability on private flights to an array of winter vacation destinations," said David McCown, president of Air Partner U.S. "Our customers enjoy access to a team of professionals dedicated to removing the burden from their winter vacation planning, a tailored in-flight experience and access to smaller airports that put them closer to their final destination."

With access to 24/7 support services and spacious cabin space for storing beach or ski equipment without the extra luggage fees, private flyers are granted with more time for vacation and less time worrying about how and when they will get there. Passengers booking a trip with Air Partner this season have global getaway options ranging from attending the Sundance Film Festival that is currently happening in Park City to skiing the Swiss Alps to exploring rainforests in Maui and shopping at some of Dubai's upscale venues.

Travelers seeking a practical and comfortable weekend flight from Los Angeles to Salt Lake City can choose a popular light jet, a Cessna CJ2. From Los Angeles to Maui or New York to Eagle, and other long-distance routes, passengers can select to move freely in the spacious and quiet cabin of a Falcon

2000 with its ample baggage bay accessible during flight. For an option between short and long-distance trips, flyers have the Hawker 800XP option, which is a popular and updated mid-size private jet with standing headroom, separate forward galley and rear bathroom. With a JetCard membership, travelers have access to the newest aircraft models available in a few as 12 hours' notice. Air Partner's ideal noted itineraries, jet recommendations and destinations shared today, include:
